We spend most of our time in our homes with our loved ones. When you are all exhausted, only one place strikes your mind, your home, that can comfort you. Your home isn't just a shelter to reside in but much more than that. Everyone is emotionally involved when they try to bring the best of their dream home. If built satisfactorily they help us in many ways by exempting us from the outside chaos and letting us stay positive for eternity with our loved ones. A perfect home can be a place to get spiritually involved in a similar ambiance. It doesn't matter what size you live in but the comfort level it builds for you does. When things are not going the way you want them to then at last you should have something that you are proud of and that enlightens every path you want to take in your future.
